WeatherNet™ for MAC!

OCENS is pleased to announce the release of a Mac compatible version of our WeatherNet™ service.

OCENS is very happy to announce that it has partnered with GPSNavX™, the leading Mac OS X Marine Navigation Application, to produce and sell a Mac version of our award winning WeatherNet weather-on-demand weather service for the OS X operating system. "We have had an increasing number of customers asking for this and we are very happy and pleased to be able to respond with a new product." says Jeff Thomassen, Director, Sales & Marketing for OCENS. "The software is easy to use and customers have access to all of the same information that has made WeatherNet™ what it is today - the most comprehensive single source of weather and ocean information in the world."

OCENS WeatherNet™ is a system designed to optimize the download of weather and ocean data products. WeatherNet™ offers highly compressed text, images, charts, buoy data, radar, GRIB files, and many more Mac compatible formats. With over 20,000 conveniently indexed, continuously updated weather products, WeatherNet™ is the largest most comprehensive source of weather data in the world. All are available right in your inbox with MacWX™. The wind GRIB weather data can be used with GPSNavX™ and MacENC™ Marine Navigation software for OS X.
